Indicators Positive for the 'State of Miami Township'

In analyzing the State of Miami Township in 2022, the Board was pleased to find that the annual median household income has risen 6.2% from 2020 to $101,456. In comparison, Clermont County has a median household income of $68,275, respectively. The increase shows our residents are prospering and it is a positive indicator for potential economic development. It signals to retailers that there is strong buying power, or 'roof tops' here in the Township.

Another positive indicator is home value. In 2021, Miami Township median home value increased 9.2% to $251,494. Clermont County has a median household income of $206,551, respectively. We consider property owners in the Township to be shareholders and median home value lets shareholders know how their stock in the community is holding up comparatively. We're proud to report they saw a good increase in already stable property values. In fact, Miami Township has the highest property value in all of Clermont County. We appreciate all our residents do to make that a reality.

While we didn't see a lot of commercial construction during the national pandemic, it is positive that we saw the creation of retail establishments. With more residents working from home, there has been increased demand for speciality eateries and a renewed emphasis on buying local. Two newer businesses are Holston's Baking Co. on Business 28 and Three Tree Bakery & Cafe located on State Route 28. We appreciate these 'mom & pop' type businesses we have seen open here in the Township!

We are also excited for investments taking place. All Hail the Biscuit recently opened at a former oil change business. Nicole and Josh House, owners of Pickles and Bones and Township residents gutted, reconditioned, and created a welcoming space for their new business venture. Tropical Smoothie Cafe opened a new location on Business 28. They are a national company serving fresh, made-to-order smoothies, wraps, sandwiches and flatbreads. And now you can find them right here in Miami Township!

TQL - a household name in greater Cincinnati, and a business originally founded in Miami Township, signed a lease for a vacant office building on Allen Drive. TQL will be moving 200 employees into the Allen Drive location and we are very thankful the property did not have to sit vacant for a prolonged period of time. We also believe the resulting workers at that location will have a positive effect on the surrounding businesses.

If you have questions regarding the 'State of the Township', we encourage you to reach out to any of us elected officials, Township employees, or specifically to Township Administrator, Jeff Wright at (513) 248-3725 or Jeff.Wright@MiamiTwpOH.gov. We look forward to a happy, healthy, prosperous year for our residents and wish all of you the best of success! We are #MiamiTownshipProud.

Know What to Look for to Spot a Scam

Corporal Thompson

Scams are crimes that the police department encounters on a daily basis. Knowing what to look for will better prepare an individual in spotting a scam. The old saying, "If it sounds too good to be true, then it probably is," applies to most scams. Typically scams will involve pressure to make a decision quickly, so you don't have time to consider all aspects of the decision you are about to make.

Definite signs of a scam include, but are not limited, to the following:

- You are asked to wire money or send a gift card.
- You won a contest you never entered. You have to pay a fee to receive your "prize".
- You are told you were overpaid and are asked to send money back.
- You are asked for personal information, especially log-in information and passwords.
- The caller will not provide you with their contact information.
- You are asked to keep the conversation a secret.
- You are pressured to make an immediate decision.

The story behind the scam will often change, but the tactics are very similar. The most popular scams involve some type of overpayment. The scammer will ask the victim to pay the difference in gift cards, cash or crypto currency. The scam involves sending some type of payment that is not traceable. These types of payment are almost never recouped once a victim is scammed.

Another common scam we encounter involve people posing as an IRS employee. The caller will advise that you owe the IRS money, and if you do not pay they will file a warrant for your arrest. In this situation, it's imperative to know that the IRS or any law enforcement agency will never request money to prevent charges from being filed or canceled.

Additionally, the IRS or law enforcement will also not take payment in the form of gift cards or crypto currency.

Identity theft is often another crime that can result from scams. Scammers will call requesting your personal information including social security numbers, date of birth, and bank login information. Your bank will already have this information, and a bank will never ask for your login information. If you provide this information to a scammer, they will most likely use the information to take out loans. The best thing someone can do to protect themselves from identity theft is to lock their credit. To do this you will need to go to the three credit bureaus' websites: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. Locking your credit will prevent credit from being opened in your name by someone else. It will require a temporary unlock if you want to get a new loan or credit card. This can be a minor inconvenience, but having your identity stolen is certainly more of a nightmare.

To protect yourself against scams, stop and ask yourself, "Does this sound too good to be true?" Also, take your time and don't fall into being pressured to make quick decisions. Ask for a call back number and business address, and then do some research on the number and address provided. If it is a scam, most of the time you will find that the number is reported as a scam with a quick Google search. If you feel the caller is illegally representing themselves as the IRS or a bank, tell them you will call them back and then look the number up yourself. Never provide passwords to accounts, and most importantly keep your credit locked.

Open Burning

Assistant Chief Dan Mack

With warm weather approaching, Spring cleanup is on the minds of many Miami Township residents. Leftover leaves and fallen branches abound, and the desire to dispose of these unsightly items to beautify our landscapes is normal. Miami Township understands that it can be difficult to dispose of yard waste and does not want to place an undue burden on our residents. Although burning the offending materials may seem to be the easiest way to accomplish this, the Ohio Fire Code and Ohio Administrative Code both have strict rules related to open burning. Knowing these rules can help residents avoid problems with neighbors as well as the fire department.

Open burning rules apply to the burning of landscape waste, leaves, and downed trees and limbs, not just construction or residential waste. Open burning is restricted in Miami Township. A fire department permit is required for “open burning” and EPA approval and/or permits are typically needed. But the fact is, very few areas in Miami Township qualify to obtain a burn permit. If you live in a typical subdivision, you definitely do not meet the distance from neighboring property lines or structures required to obtain a permit. We have posted information and reference materials on our website at MiamiTwpOH.gov under the “Fire & EMS” tab’s “Education & Preparedness” menu option. Please look for the “Open Burn Info” link to see documents to review if you have questions.

Remember, our main concern with open burning is always the potential for a fire to spread quickly across a yard, to other brush, or even to nearby buildings. Your safety and that of your neighbors is always our number one priority. But open burns can also be unpleasant to others. Winds can change, and although you may enjoy the smell of wood smoke, your neighbors may not. So, a seemingly small burn can have other unintended consequences.

If you have questions, you can speak directly with a Fire Inspector by calling (513) 248-3700. Enjoy Spring, but as always, do so safely and “fire-free”!

As a reminder, all the materials on display at the public forum are also available on the Miami Township website under the zoning button. The information can be reviewed virtually anytime, and comments submitted by e-mail.

Next up in the Land Use Plan update process – the Land Use Plan Update Steering Committee will schedule its final meeting to review public comment received from the open house and consider any additional recommendations.

Zoning Commission & BZA Sworn in for 2022

Each year the Board of Zoning Appeals and Zoning Commission members participate in a swearing in ceremony to start the new term. This year both Boards were sworn in by Trustee Mark Schulte. Each of the Boards is composed of five appointed residents of Miami Township, and one additional member who serves as the alternate. The members serve staggered terms, with one seat coming up for re-appointment each year.

For the Board of Zoning Appeals (top) this year, Steve Reece was selected to serve a two-year term as Chair and Randy Merrill was selected as Vice Chair. The Zoning Commission (bottom) approved Jeff Baumgarth and Ed Marcin as its Chair and Vice Chair for 2022 and 2023.

Rain Gardens Good For Slowing Storm Water

Rain gardens are built in a shallow depression designed to collect rain water and slowly filter it into the ground over a period of a day or two. Unlike a wetland, rain gardens are designed to be completely dry after a maximum of two days, so standing water is not a problem. Good locations for rain gardens are areas where rain water collects during a storm, such as below roof downspouts, small grassy waterways, or parking lot islands. They are not well-suited for areas where water tends to stand for more than 48 hours.

Concerned about mosquitoes? No need to be. In fact, because rain gardens are designed to be dry within a day or two after a rain storm, they can act as mosquito "traps." Mosquitoes may lay eggs in the garden when it is holding water, but because it dries out so quickly, the larvae die before they can hatch.

Rain gardens help keep our streams and rivers clean by filtering "storm water runoff" before it enters local waterways. Rain gardens also help alleviate problems associated with localized flooding by encouraging water to soak into the ground, thereby reducing the volume of runoff. Anyone can build a rain garden on their own. Creating one requires nothing more high tech than a shovel. Check out the Clermont Soil and Water Conservation District's "Quick Guide to Planning and Installing Rain Gardens" at ClermontSWCD.org to see how easy it is! For more information, call (513) 732-7075 and they'll help you through it.
